would not perpetrate a forgery. Having disposed of this point Mr. B. goes on to say—

I hold that a public man who has ever studied the history and science of civil government, and who yet endorses this wild movement of the priesthood and their dupes, for revolutionizing our constitution and laws, should be eternally damned. By a perverted and abnormal action of the religious sentiment he aims a blow at the sacred rights of humanity, which it was the express object of the constitution to secure, and the people, if they be enlightened, can never forget nor forgive the crime. He is either an infant fool or an infernal rascal, one of the two. In your new born zeal against your old party do you think me severe?

Suppose the Greeley and Brown ticket is elected, and in six months afterwards Mr. Greeley dies Gratz Brown becomes president. Then the same fanaticism that led him to write the letter endorsing the movement for making the constitution a creed, would lead him and his coadjutors to regard his elevation to the presidency as an act of God, as a divine call on him to use his vast influence in the glorious work of putting God, and Christ, and the Bible, into the constitution! As an honest man, true to his vows, of course he would do it. And if the congress should be composed of men with no stiffer backbone than yours, who knows but that after all the amendments contemplated may pass a joint resolution by a two thirds vote, and then go to the states for ratification? all this is among the possibilities:

Criticising other points Mr. B. goes on to say—

Some of the newspapers whose editors know that this letter of Brown's ought to kill him politically dead, persist in saying that it was not written by him, but by Gov. McClurg. Yet Gratz Brown looks on serenely and sees his production imputed to McClurg, and says not one word to exculpate McClurg, and take the blame on himself! How does this affect your sense of honor? He sees his dirty brat of a letter kicked and cuffed about by the press like a bastard, who, the law says, has no father, and when he knows that the dangerous, brazen-faced little imp is his own begotten child, allows it to be tattered upon an innocent person!

Are you going to vote for such a man for vice president, and will you dare to scold me because I will not stuff myself, and commit treason against my life-long principles by doing the same inconsistent thing? How discouraging it is when a man of your good sense will allow political partisanship to override his judgment, and patriotism and make him blunder in such a manner! If Gratz Brown were my twin brother I would sooner put my hand into the fire than deposit a vote for him for any office where he might have the chance of exerting any influence in carrying out so dangerous a project as he is committed to in his published letter.

After introducing matters for discussion he proceeds to answer the question why voters can't divide the body of the constitution as may be necessary to give effect to these amendments in the preamble. The Memorialists further ask, "That such changes be introduced into the body of the constitution as may be necessary to give effect to these amendments in the preamble." After introducing matters for discussion he proceeds to answer the question why voters can't divide the body of the constitution as may be necessary to give effect to these amendments in the preamble. The Memorialists further ask, "That such changes be introduced into the body of the constitution as may be necessary to give effect to these amendments in the preamble."

We have not room for all this letter, but give only a few prominent points in it. It is not hard to understand, and we are satisfied is on the right ground.

HOW TO KEEP GRAPES.

A correspondent of the Union Central Agriculturalist gives the following rules for grapes:

Place the fruit where it will be neither too dry nor too moist, too warm nor too cold.

As to temperature the nearer freezing the better, so long as it is above freezing.

Too much moisture will breed mold and spoil the flavor of those that do not rot. Contact with decayed or broken grapes will spoil the berries.

Too much warmth if the air is not excluded, will dry the grapes and make raisins if the fruit is good enough. If the air is excluded the fruit will dry too fast.

Hence we infer that grapes to keep should not be packed.

Put up the fresh clusters in boxes, two or three layers deep, upon cotton, paper, or grape leaves between layers. Light wood is the best. Let the size be governed by your taste. If for marketing use those that will hold from two to four pounds.

In handling the clusters touch them only. Contact with the hand takes off the bloom; beside there is danger of bruising. Handle carefully. The boxes should be covered.

People have been taught to wax the end of the stem.

There is little use in this. If your grapes are of a variety that will keep well, the peduncle lays fast hold on the pulp, and is kept fresh by the grape. A little drying of the fruit causes the peduncle to wither and break from the berry. Grapes separated from the cluster soon decay.

The Hartford often drops from the stem in gathering. With the best care it can be kept fresh but a very short time after gathering.

The Concord is but little better.

Observe if when you draw out a berry from the cluster, it brings out the peduncle from the center, it probably is in an open vessel near and places offensive gas place some distilled cop-

A NEW DRUNKARD'S REFORMER.

During a temperance gathering, at Washington, the other night, the following story was told by a former user of the ardent. It appears that the crowd gathered about to hear the speaker were a little boisterous and inclined not to hear to him, when a well known builder and bricklayer stepped up along side of the speaker and said:

Brown, the Christian gentleman of Youngstown, who writes him self in the first person, singular number, and nominative case, with a little i, on Saturday evening, the 14th inst., had a great demonstration in behalf of himself, at Alliance. He, it is reported, chartered several cars at Youngstown, to carry his forces over to Alliance, consisting of some hundreds of the Tin Bucket Brigade. Arriving at their destination, or rather on the road thither, according to what the Local says, part of them became pugnacious among themselves, inspired thereto by plenteous supplies of fighting whisky which they carried along. On arrival they marched up the streets and down again, were addressed, by a speaker along with them, who is represented as having imbibed a fair portion of the spirits, so that he was in fine condition to orate to the crowd. Following the speech the Local says that the roughs of the Youngstown crowd took to fighting among themselves, and some twenty or more combats was the result of the demonstration—perhaps some of the same class at Alliance participating. A large portion of those who came along are represented as gentlemen, well behaved, but there were enough of the other sort to make the whole thing a disgrace. It is a new way of doing missionary business—that of exporting speaker audience, whisky and all to convert the heathen of Alliance to the support of this modest Christian gentleman. The jaunt is reported to have cost this week and lowly follower about a thousand dollars. The question now is, did it make a thousand votes for him? or even the tenth part of a thousand? Very doubtful. Although the allegation is denied by Brown and his friends that he has been purchasing and subsidizing press to work in his behalf, yet the idea is so fixed in the public mind that they seem to be no mistake about it; and this last effort to buy votes by such an exhibition as transpired at Alliance should be sufficient to condemn any man who will consent to such means to get a place in congress, a position for which he is totally unfit.

Last Tuesday and Wednesday the soldiers and sailors' convention met at Pittsburgh, and the large numbers of our boys, who had the good fortune to be present, unite in saying it was one of the grandest gatherings of patriotic men probably ever witnessed in this country. They were there by the tens of thousands—every state was represented, and many if not all the territories. Many distinguished men, both military and civil, were present and actively participated in the proceedings. Henry Wilson, Burnside, Logan, Butler, Hartranft and scores of other eminent men took an active part. Hundreds of speeches were made, for in the vast concourse a dozen or more speakers were crowded with large audiences at the same time. The greatest enthusiasm prevailed during these two days, and every one present felt that this great convention was one of the telling agencies which is to result in the triumphant election of Grant & Wilson. Some idea of its magnitude may be formed when the reader learns that when a procession was formed, it took some two hours to pass a given point, indicating that it was about nine miles in length. If the Greeleycrats can extract comfort from this demonstration they are welcome to all the consolation it affords.

Some days ago it was announced that Mr. O'Connor, the straightout democratic candidate would not accept the Louisville nomination, but his friends have persisted in their efforts until he has finally consented to run for the presidency on an old fashioned democratic ticket. The race is now between him and O'Greeley as to which shall be the furthest behind Grant. As to political consistency there is no comparison between O'Connor and O'Greeley—the former sticks to his life long profession—the latter flies from every profession he ever made.

SEYTON WILSON'S RECORD.

One needs to travel fast to keep up with the scandal of the times. When the opposition had exhausted the capacity of their language in abuse of the president, its organs turned their attention to the republican candidate for the vice presidency. The only thing that the senator could give to help the Greeley cause was withheld. His vote to opposite their old stand. Where they con-son of all that was narrow, bigoted and illiberal in politics and in morals, his bottled wrath to the coalition. Nothing could be further from the truth. If any man in public life is exempt by his words and his works to friend, "born in the same year with imputations, Henry Wilson surely is himself," when his sinking fortunes cry in the senate will be scanned in vain all. Sumner did more than any other to find an instance of faithlessness to man to get Horace in his present principles which have been the scruples and common humanity should guide his life. The oppressed, the have prompted him to stand by him in ignorant and the poor have always had his in a vigilant, industrious and powerful friend.

His position when the fifteenth amendment was under discussion is directly to the point. During that debate he constantly and earnestly labored to make the proposed amendment as comprehensive as possible. If his views had been adopted no disqualification to hold office in any state of the union, north or south would attach to any citizen on account of any of the accidents which are yet to happen while in Europe may tend to give him a better idea of general Grant's administration, and cause him to moderate his opinion on the threadbare subject of "personal government."

VALUABLE HINTS.

A regular habit of body is absolutely es-serital to physical health and cleanness of intellect. Nor is this all. Beauty of person cannot co-exist with an unnatural condition of the bowels. A free passage of the re洙e-matter of the system through these natural waste pipes, is as necessary to the purity of the body as the free passage of the fluid of a city through its sewers is necessary to the health of its inhabitants.

Indigestion is the primary cause of most of the diseases of the discharging organs, and one of its most common results is constipation.

This complaint besides being dangerous in itself, has many disagreeable complaints—such as an unpleasant breath,

a sallow skin, contaminating blood and bile, hemorrhoids, headache, loss of memory, and general debility.

Hositter's Stomach Bitters remove all these evils by removing their immediate cause in the digestive organs, and regulating the action of the intestines. The combination of properties in this celebrated preparation is one of its chief merits. It is not merely a stimulant or a tonic, or an antibilious agent, or a nervine, or a blood depurant, or a cathartic, but all these curative elements judiciously blended in one powerful restorative. It lends activity and vigor to the inert and enervated system, relieves the alimentary canal of its obstructions, and gives tone to the membrane which lines it, gently stimulates the liver, braces the nerves and cheers the animal spirits. No other remedy possesses such a variety of hygienic virtues. It is to these characteristic virtues that it owes its prestige as a household medicine. Experience has proved that it is as harmless as it is efficacious, and hence it is as popular with the weaker sex as with the stronger.

All members of the Massillon Grant Club are requested to be in attendance at the meeting to-morrow (Thursday) evening, to arrange for going to Canton on Monday, to hear Senator Wilson, candidate for vice president.

W. B. PORTER,
Secretary.

Let all who possibly can attend the fair, which began yesterday, at Canton, and will be continued until Fr. day next. Doubtless there will be much to be seen there, as this is a favorable season, and our people are annually taking more interest in these gatherings.

Preparations are making at the Singer Sewing Machine Agency, on Erie street, to exhibit machines propelled by a diminutive steam engine, constructed by Mr Frank Chidester. It will soon be in readiness for exhibition, and is worthy the attention of the curious.

THE WALLACE SISTERS; JENNIE, MINNIE AND MARY.—Our little favorites are again billed for Massillon, on this occasion for Saturday night, Sept. 29th; and as they are very popular with our citizens, we prophesy for them a good house, especially as they have selected Saturday night, when all our working classes can attend.

Reserved seats are on sale at Mr. Ryders news-depot. Be on hand as the crowd will be great.

The Wallace Sisters have commenced this season a splendid business. At the state fair Mansfield, hundreds were turned away nightly for lack of even standing room. While at the Franklin county fair at Columbus, the houses were very large. At this on the third night Miss Jennie produced her great play of Olive the Rose of Kilmorey, to a $600 house, and so superbly was her acting of the character, that she received a perfect ovation, being five times called before the curtain.

Minnie and Mary are still the recipients of innumerable encores, and the little gems are said to have greatly improved.

A splendid bill is promised for Massillon. The company this season is a magnificent one of 25 artists, full orchestra and brass band. We will be there sure.

Last Wednesday, Thursday and Friday Columbiana county held one of those large fairs, at New Lisbon, for which it has many years been justly famed. A fine exhibition of crops of various kinds, stock, poultry, mechanical and manufactured productions interested the thousands who flocked from all parts of the county to participate in and see the improvements. We noticed our friend, Geo. Willison, on the ground, with one of those excellent road scrapers manufactured in this place by Myers & Willison, and Will Shad, of the firm of Shafts Bros—making and selling his candies by the rod. Among the notable men manufacturers of that place was a number of finely finished carriages by Wm. Myers.

POCKET DICTIONARY.—Webster's Pocket Dictionary in its present shape, is a great improvement over all previous editions and all similar works. In the first place it is neatly printed, and bound in morocco, with gilt edges. Then it contains 200 pictorial illustrations, which give a much clearer idea of the meaning of many words than could possibly be conveyed by the usual definition. The little volume, while being no larger than an ordinary pocket book, embraces in its vocabulary a careful selection of over 18,000 of the most important words of the language, with definitions sufficiently clear, though necessarily brief, to meet the ordinary wants of any one requiring its use.

Prefixed to the work are tables of money, weight, and measure, abbreviations, words and phrases from foreign languages, rules for explaining, etc. etc. It is in fact the most valuable little book, and is doubly worth the dollar it costs. It is very beautifully and substantially bound, with tucks and gilt edges. The publishers, Ivison, Blakeman, Taylor & Co., 133 and 149 Grand street, New York, will forward it by mail on receipt of one dollar, or it can be bought almost anywhere.

Without provocation, or even a word of contempt, a man named Keller struck Wm. Wilson, a one armed soldier on the back of the head last Saturday night, with a box when it was full of sardines. The blow knocked Mr. Wilson down, and in the fall the portion of his arm which is left was considerably injured—and not satisfied with this assault beat the fallen man on his face with the same box, inflicting severe injuries. Keller was arrested and on Sunday morning was taken before the mayor, and fined $25. This may be all right, but some of our people think it was letting off a transgressor on very easy terms, compared with the aggravated offense of which he was guilty. At taking a one armed man with such a missile as was used was a piece of cowardice and malice really entitled to the severest penalty of the law for such outrages.

Last week we were favored with a visit from Bro. White, one of the proprietors of that excellent and well conducted paper, the Holmes County Republican. He reports prosperity in the borders of that celebrated state, and stronghold of the democracy, but thinks the party so demoralized that will be far from reaching its accustomed majority.

Mr. Wilson, of Youngstown, an old acquaintance and limb of the law, who was here on lecturing excursion in favor of Greeley and Brown, made us a little visit the other day, and he looks as jolly and cheerful as ever. His speech pleased those of his political friends who listened to it, but they were not logion.

Rev. J. Russell, prohibition candidate for vice president, will speak on the temperance question on next Saturday evening at Alliance. He is one of the ablest advocates of that great cause in the country, and don't go about throwing money into the grottoes.

Say nothing about yourself, either good, bad, or indifferent. Nothing good, for it is vanity, nothing bad, for that is affection, nothing indifferent, for that is silly.

A nice person makes no difficulties, is never misplaced, is never foolishly affronted, and is void of affections.

According to a writer in Blackwood, every man who is not a monster, mathematician, or a mad philosopher, is a slave to some woman or other.

"I am not myself at all to-day," said a bore to a wit. "No matter," was the reply, "whoever else may be, you're a gainer by the change."

A gentleman in a cheap restaurant, the other day was heard to give the fearless order: "Waiter, let the cheese move this way!"

Truth may perhaps come to the price of a pearl, that sheweth best by day; but it will rise to the price of a diamond, that sheweth best in varied light.

Many a true heart that would have come back like the dove to the ark, after its first transgression, has been frightened beyond recall by the savage nature of an unfortunate spirit.

During the past year there were 1,332,246,000 cigars manufactured in the United States. Atten cents each, the average retail price, they would cost smokers $188,224,600, and yet there are more who smoke pipes than cigars. Two hundred million dollars for smoking tobacco in one year is considerable.

Masks and Faces—Ladies who mask their faces and necks with enamels endanger their health to no purpose. The plaster work deceives them. There is but one article known which will restore a blemished complexion or create external brilliancy and bloom where they have never before existed, and that article is Haag's Magnolia Balm. It performs this toilet miracle by infusing vitality into the skin. The floral and herbal juices of which it is composed gently stimulate the circulation in the minute blood vessels, and brace the network of nerves through which they pass. Thus quickened, and strengthened the external covering soon acquires a fresh and healthy hue, and every trace of sallowness disappears. The palest cheeks derive from the beautifying baptism of this delightful cosmetic a warmer hue, and the arms, hands and neck, a blonder lustre which the charlatans, who profess to make ladies "beautiful forever" with their poisonous cement, can never hope to imitate.

AGENTS TO THE RESCUE!

Scatter truths among the people. Richardson's Personal History of Grant tells more truth about the man than all the papers in the world. If you want to know if Grant is a thief, liar or drunkard read this book.

Agents can make large wages for the next few months selling it, as it is wanted, and we give overwhelming commissions.
